TWO IMPORTANT GARDEN PARTIES PAST WEEK.

FAREWELL ENTERTAINMENTS FOR MRS. BRYAN.

GOSSIP, DINNERS, DANCES, LUNCHEONS OUTDOORS

The week has been full of interest. Many Washingtonians are being entertained at week-end house parties at Leesburg, where the horse show has been in progress; there have been festivities in honor of Mrs. William Jennings Bryan, in the nature of farewell compliments, owing to Mr. Bryan's resigning his post as Secretary of State, and there have been important garden parties as well as important weddings. Mrs. Bryan will be greatly missed. She has made many friends here, and if her engagements will permit there are to be a number of other entertainments here in her honor before she and the former Secretary leave Washington.

Perhaps the most important events of the week were the two garden parties with which the week's program began—one at Single Oak, the suburban home of the Secretary of the Navy and Mrs. Daniels, Monday, when Mr. and Mrs. Daniels entertained in compliment to the members of the Young Women's Christian Association, and the other the garden tea at the marine barracks, when Maj. Gen. Barnett and Mrs. Barnett welcomed their friends, asked to meet Rear Admiral Benson and Mrs. Benson.

TWO GARDEN PARTIES INTERESTING.

In a large measure the Army and Navy and Marine Corps have carried the burden of entertaining, and that these two garden parties should have been presided over by women of the navy and Marine Corps is merely following out a precedent begun early in the winter, when it was found that these two branches of the service would entertain so widely. Mrs. Daniels had, with others, assisting her, Mrs. Bryan, Mrs. Bryan and Mrs. Daniels have both always been able and willing to lend their personal support and influence to the affairs of those less fortunate than the men and women of their own official sets. At the marine barracks garden tea Gen. Barnett and the other officers followed the fashion adopted by officers at the White House garden parties some years ago of wearing "white ducks," which are, of course, cooler than any other uniform or civilian clothes that could be worn, the reason the men wear them, although the adoption of such clothes at such parties is a satisfaction to the women, too. Besides having their friends comfortable women are always glad to have them be picturesque adjuncts at social gatherings, the white and gold lace being quite as effective against the green grass and trees as the parti-colored frocks of the woman guests.

TOO WARM FOR DANCING NOWADAYS.

At the marine barracks party the entire Marine Band was in evidence to play for dancing, but, strange as it may seem, there was comparatively little dancing done, and there seems to be a consensus of opinion that society, even the younger element of it, has at last become tired of this form of recreation and amusement, at least on warm days. Mrs. Charles McCawley, whose husband is a brother officer of Gen. Barnett's, presided at the tea table, and Mrs. Eberle, wife of Capt. Eberle of the navy, poured chocolate, while a number of other attractive matrons and a bevy of pretty girls, with attendant swarms recruited from the young officers, assisted the hostess in various ways.

June would not be June without many brides, and, exceptional as it has been in many ways, this June has been like all others, and will be, in the number and attractiveness of its brides. Most notable of the nuptial events of the week, as far as Washington is concerned, was the wedding Wednesday of Miss Anne Seymour Jones, daughter of Representative Jones of Virginia, and Lieut. S. Roland Hopkins, U. S. A. Although the ceremony took place outside of Washington, the personnel of the wedding party was recruited largely from here, as, of course, while Congress is in session the bride's parents live here and have for the twenty-two years in which her father has served in the lower House. Washington is always headquarters for army officers, and in this case the young bridegroom is stationed at Fort Myer, where he will take his bride on the completion of their honeymoon jaunt. So the principals, at least, were all from Washington and so were some of those in the wedding train.

BEAUTIFUL OLD VIRGINIA HOMESTEAD.

The beautiful old Virginia homestead of the Jones family, which has been closed for so many years during extra sessions of Congress, was as charming and delightful in its hospitable welcome as if there had never been a break in the many decades of old-fashioned southern cheer it has witnessed. There was a church ceremony prior to the reception at the old homestead, Rt. Rev. Beverly Tucker, Bishop Coadjutor of Virginia, tying the knot. A feature of the military wedding—for Lieut. Hopkins was attended by brother officers, all of whom, like himself, wore their dress uniforms—was the forming of an aisle of drawn swords in the hands of the groomsmen, under which bride and bridegroom and bridesmaids passed as they left the church.

Miss Clarine Hunter, daughter of Mrs. Robert J. Hunter, was a bride of Tuesday, and was married at her home on 18th street to Mr. Francis Alton Connolly by the rector of St. Thomas' Church, Rev. Dr. C. Ernest Smith. The ceremony took place amid a shower of flowers, a feature of the decorations being a lattice covered with white orchids, trailing vines and lilacs. Senorita Ramona Lefevre, daughter of the first secretary of the legation of Panama, was maid of honor.

Washington was largely represented yesterday at the wedding of Dr. A. Y. P. Garnett of this city and Miss Mildred Poor, which took place at the country home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Harper Poor, at Easthampton, L. I. Mrs. Breckinridge Bayne was matron of honor and Dr. Bayne was an usher.

GARDENS LOVELIER THAN THOSE AT VERSAILLES.

Many of the weddings to come are to be out of doors, among them an important wedding to be held at Somerville, N. J., when Miss Yvonne Townsend of Washington, daughter of the former minister to Portugal and Mrs. Lawrence Townsend, is to be a bridesmaid. The bride is to be Miss Mary Duke, and she will wed, June 16, Mr. Anthony J. Drexel Biddle of Philadelphia.

Of all the brides of the whole summer none will have such a setting as this young woman will have for her wedding. Those who have seen the gardens at the Duke estate are unbounded in their admiration, and declare that they are even lovelier than the gardens of the erstwhile kings of France at Versailles. There are miles of these gardens, divided into all sorts and kinds, with massings of shrubbery, rockeries, miniature lakes, sunken gardens, Italian gardens and old-fashioned hardy gardens.

Besides the coming wedding at Dindenhurst, the home of Mr. John Wanamaker, near Philadelphia, when his granddaughter, Miss Marie Louise, will become the bride of Mr. Gurnee Munn of Washington, there will take place on the same day the wedding of Mr. Barnes Newberry, son of the former Secretary of the Navy and Mrs. Truman Newberry. On the 28th of June Mr. Newberry will wed Miss Elizabeth Goddard Binney, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Binney, and the ceremony will take place at the country place of the latter at Providence, R. I., to which a number of Washingtonians have been invited.

ALEXANDRIA GIRL IN MISS CLARK'S TRAIN.

June 30 will claim two Washington girls as brides—Miss Eleanor Reburn, daughter of the former mayor of Philadelphia, who is to be married to Capt. Francis Clark Harrington, U. S. A., at Pequot Chapel, near New London, Conn., with a reception at the bride's country home, Oak Lodge, and Miss Genevieve Clark, daughter of the Speaker of the House of Representatives and Mrs. Champ Clark. Miss Clark will be married at Honey-shuck, the Clark home at Bowling Green, Mo. She will be surrounded by attendants picked from the west and south, with one young woman, Miss Jean Roberts, from Alexandria, Va., as a representative from this section, but Miss Reburn will have a bevy of Washington maids to bear her company.

The engagement has been announced during the week of Miss Edwina Elkins Bruner and Mr. C. A. Hecksher Wetherill. Miss Bruner is the daughter of Mrs. W. Caner Wiederseim, whose mother was Miss Elkins, daughter of Senator Stephen B. Elkins. Miss Bruner often visits Mrs. Elkins here, and is much admired in Washington society, as well as in Philadelphia, her home. Mr. Wetherill is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. John Price Wetherill of Philadelphia.

The Cabinet Circle.

The Secretary of the Treasury will go to New York to meet his daughter, Miss Nona McAdoo, who is expected to arrive on the Rochambeau Tuesday. Miss Catherine Britton, who accompanied Miss McAdoo to Europe to nurse in the American hospital at Paris, is returning with her. Mr. and Mrs. A. T. Britton, who have spent the past two weeks at Atlantic City, will go to New York to await the arrival of the Rochambeau.

Mrs. Garrison has left Washington for the season and will spend the summer at Seabright, N. J. The Secretary of War has gone to Seabright to remain at the capital as long as the Secretary's business keeps him here and later they will decide upon some plan for a vacation.

Mrs. Houston, wife of the Secretary of Agriculture, will close her home here June 18 to go to Woods Hole, Mass., for the season.

The Diplomatic Corps.

For the first time since the establishment of a French embassy in Washington the ambassador will spend the summer at the capital. It has always been his custom to accompany Mme. Jusserand abroad in June, and with her, to spend the summer on their chateau in France. This year, it is said at the embassy, the ambassador and Mme. Jusserand will spend the entire season in town, but it is possible they will find time in July and August for short out-of-town trips.

Count von Bernstorff has established the German embassy at Cedarhurst, L. I. for the season, and only one of two secretaries are left here as a connecting link between the State Department and the ambassador.

Mme. De Riano, wife of the Spanish ambassador, will go to Newport about June 23 or 24, and the ambassador will join her there whenever his duties here permit. As a neutral ambassador, his position is an exceedingly important one and he will keep in close touch with the capital all summer.

The Brazilian minister and Mme. Ekengren, who have spent the past few seasons at Bar Harbor, may change their plans and go to some point on Long Island. They will be in Washington until late in June.

The Netherlands legation will have the Ritz-Carlton, N. Y., as its address during the summer, and the minister, Chevalier W. L. F. C. van Rappard, will spend some time in traveling, a trip to the Pacific coast being part of his summer plan. M. de Beaufort, secretary of the legation, has gone to New York and will be a frequent guest at Newport, Bar Harbor and other resorts, only returning to Washington on business requires.

Prince Alfred von Hohenlohe-Schillingfurst, attaché of the Austrian embassy, who spent the greater part of last week in Washington, has gone to Lenox, Mass., to join the ambassador and Mme. Dumba.

Mr. Robert Spear, the new secretary of the British embassy, has arrived here to assume his duties. Commander I. V. Mishin, Russian naval attaché, Baron Renaud de Ungern Sternberg, gentleman in waiting to his majesty, the Emperor of Russia, and Lieut. Fedotoff, who serves as a second naval attaché of the Russian embassy, form an interesting trio of bachelor diplomats who have taken quarters at Cottrell cottage, Newport, for the summer. They are already established there.

Mr. Colville Barclay, counselor of the British embassy, who accompanied Mrs. Colville Barclay and their family to Beverly, Mass., last week, will return here the first of this week, having established his family on the north shore for the summer.

Lieut. Col. the Honorable Murrough O'Brien, British military attaché, will also return to Washington this week from the north shore, where he accompanied his family to their summer home.

Col. Raybaud, Argentine military attaché, who went to West Point for the June week exercises, will visit a number of military posts and travel otherwise before returning here.

Mr. Lefevre, secretary of the Panama legation, and his sister, Miss Ramona Lefevre, will go to San Francisco to the exposition. Their departure from Washington will depend upon the arrival here of an aunt, from Panama, who will accompany them. Mr. Lefevre also anticipates an official visit to Panama.

Dinners.

Among those entertaining at dinner last night at the Chevy Chase Club were Miss Bryan, Mr. and Mrs. Montgomery Blair, Mr. Gerald May, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Wilcox and Mr. and Mrs. McClintock.
